PROFESSIONAL SYNOPSIS

NATIONAL RECONNAISSANCE OFFICE

2003 – PRESENT

Senior Advisor to the Director for Procurement Integrity (2009 – Present)

- Utilize broad scope of industry and general public-sector knowledge to develop and execute a proactive approach to risk management via targeted assessment of corporate business ethics and compliance programs of major NRO contractors.
- Offer dynamic business acumen as a sought-after speaker and recognized expert in promoting an ethical corporate culture, and recommend innovative tools and approaches to compliance programs, staff training, and corporate communications.
- Contribute resourceful skills as a champion for values-based ethics programs, along with initiating comprehensive enhancements to improve government / industry collaboration on fraud prevention and risk management.

Inspector General (2003 – 2009)

- Directed a top-performing staff of almost 100 investigators, auditors, and inspectors in Washington, D.C. and field locations.
- Designed efforts recognized by the DoJ as “Best in Class” to prevent and detect procurement fraud in a multibillion-dollar acquisition program, and collaborated with LE and federal prosecutors to pursue violations of federal criminal law.
- Interfaced among the senior intelligence community, DoD leadership, and congressional oversight committees to provide advisement in promptly responding to problem areas and management challenges facing NRO activities and operations.
- Recovered millions of taxpayer dollars defrauded from the government via cost mischarging, overpricing, and kickbacks.
- Developed and coordinated audit and inspection findings and recommendations that supported the transformation and reorganization of critical business processes of the NRO.

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

1998 – 2003

Senior Advisor to the Executive Director & Chair, Deployed Support Task Force (2002 – 2003)

- Increased organizational and personnel efficiency by coordinating, planning, and managing an agency task force designed to identify, analyze, and realign several thousand CIA-deployed support career positions and occupations worldwide.
- Participated in a senior advisory team to re-invigorate CIA strategic planning and performance management processes.
- Built an agency-wide coalition and successfully marketed the re-engineering of major business processes (e.g. HR, logistics, travel, financial management) toward a shared services environment to achieve millions in saved costs and return of positions to critical CIA mission areas (e.g. counterterrorism).

1998 – 2003

Acting Deputy Inspector General (2001 – 2002)

- Pending presidential nomination of a new Inspector General, supported an Acting Inspector General in leading an over 100-member team of investigators, auditors, and inspectors in overseeing worldwide CIA programs, activities, and finances.
- Served as a key member of the CIA Director's leadership team on September 11th and during aftermath of terrorist attacks.

Assistant Inspector General for Audits (1999 – 2001)

- Strategically steered an almost 100-member auditor team in conducting performance and financial audits of CIA programs and operations worldwide, including enhancing staff diversity via targeted collegiate and professional associations recruiting.
- Created an advanced IT audit capability, and launched a comprehensive program of auditing CIA field activities worldwide.

Chief—Policy & Planning, Office of Inspector General (1998 – 1999)

- Spearheaded first-time efforts to develop and execute a centralized IG planning process which was instrumental in successfully producing a coordinated plan for oversight projects that reflected both Agency and congressional priorities.
- Ensured consistency and quality control of all OIG investigations, audits, and inspection reports by initiating reviews.

DEFENSE INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

1991 – 1997

Assistant Inspector General for Audits

- Drove DIA efficiency by recruiting, training, and leading a professional cadre of auditors and analysts from government and private industries that convinced initially skeptical senior military leaders of the value of internal IG audit functions.
- Achieved worldwide DIA performance improvements and cost savings by developing the first internal program of independent performance and financial audits.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE INSPECTOR GENERAL

1990 – 1991

Program Officer—Audit Policy & Oversight

- Coordinated 400+ reviews conducted by the Government Accountability Office (GAO) throughout the DoD, including providing early warning to senior DoD leadership on critical GAO findings with potential impact on DoD operations.
